International Women’s Day at Kurumba Maldives 2019

Started in 1911 with support from over a million people, International Women’s Day today continues to be one of the biggest events dedicated to women around the world. This year, the event marked the beginning of the campaign "Balance for better" with an aim to celebrate women’s achievements and strike for gender balance.

At Kurumba Maldives, International Women’s day this year was a day of joy, laughter, unity and more than anything, a day of appreciation for all the ladies from guests to our female team members. Called it “A balanced day”, away from the daily routine and distractions, our ladies were given an opportunity to fully enjoy their time together with activities and special treats.

Nothing was better than getting the day started with an outdoor yoga and meditation class – an energizing way to set everyone up for a productive day. Later in the morning, the sport ground was packed with excitement for the Mini Olympics with lots of fun games like Hoola Hoop, Sack Race, Running with Lemon etc...

Watching MasterChef shows in the television would bring you the thrill of an intense competition, but have you ever thought of participating or watching a live one? At Kurumba’s BBQ Master Chef special edition this year with all female participants, the competition turned to be a real & fun show with full of passion and joy.

One of the highlights of the day was a special lunch treat from the management team for all ladies. With specially prepared delicious food, this get-together lunch brought everyone closer together.

The event continued to be not less exciting in the afternoon with tree planting activity and a sunset dolphin cruise trip. Finally, the day was concluded with a game show at the main bar remarked a successful event specially for "the other half of the world".

ABOUT KURUMBA MALDIVES
Kurumba was the very first private island resort in the Maldives when it opened its doors in 1972 in the Indian Ocean archipelago of the Maldives, celebrates its 47th Anniversary this year. Opened by four young Maldivians on an uninhabited coconut plantation island in October 1972, Kurumba marked the beginning of the tourist industry in the country. At that time, Maldives was isolated with no contact with the outside world except by ham radio, no telephones, mains electricity or water, few vehicles and no paved roads, and only a small airstrip built by volunteers.
Kurumba began with 30 huts built of coral and thatched with coconut leaves; the first guests were barefoot backpackers in search of sand, sea and sun. The Maldivian hosts prepared meals informally. Today the resort is still Maldivian owned and managed. About 1,000 tourists visited the island in 1972; in 2018 1.4 million tourists stayed in over 130 resorts through the Maldives.

Kurumba Maldives is set on a tropical island in the North Male’ Atoll, conveniently situated a brief 10-minute speedboat ride from the airport. It draws on its proud history, charismatic personality and heartfelt service, to offer compelling and diverse experiences amidst a stunning island setting.

The resort offers an array of eight styles of accommodation, ranging from comfortable Superior rooms to the spacious Royal Residence, spread among the island’s lush tropical gardens with easy access to the beach. With eight different restaurants, three bars and one shisha lounge to choose from, Kurumba Maldives will charm you with its unparalleled choice of dining experience and a wide range of recreation activities and entertainment. All while maintaining idyllic spaces of relaxation to create the perfect balance for a holiday in paradise, perfect for honeymooners and families alike.
